Both Experiment -Soon after midn'ght fonday (the 5th of March) a special train left ton shiring upon a strangely exceptional ud. More than 100 skilled workmen and ourers, marshalled by gangers, contractors, agenta, took their seats in it, in orderly fashbut with a mysterious and determined air. f some more than usually weighty business on hand. One carriage was devoted to to is and implements, and the train, thus ghted, reached Tring at 1.30 A procession formed at the station—cach man shouldering rowbar or other implement-and a compact planz, oge bundred and twenty strong, march. out two and two into the moonlight. A walk lires miles brought them to the side of Berkdipliend common hearest to Ashridge Park sent of Earl Brownlow, and the objects of expedition were then first made known to the and file. The greater portion of this comn, compying a space of two miles in length ownlow; and we learn that Mr. Augustus ith, of the Scilly Islands, as the owner of an are near, and therefore as a communer setting concert with his neighbours, had determined to his forse in a very cilcal way. The whole of the tron railings, usisting of stout "uprights," five feet high, and is broad metal bands at class intervals between b, were to be thrown down hefere caylight, Smith and the commoners taking all responsily, chartering the train, and engaging the n. These last were told off in detachments, been accong; the substantial loints of the rail; week first loosened by hammers and chiecle, the crowbara did the rest. Bufore at o clock sterday morning the whole of the enclosure was felled to the ground, each stout upright having metal hands, its tributaries, first nearly folded rid it, and then being laid upon the turf it had sently served to close in. It was seven o'clock fore the alarm was given, and by the time Mr. ition, the late Sir Joseph Poxton's brother, and rl Brownlow's stoward, appeared upon the one, Berkhaupstend-common was enclosed no ager. It was too late to do more than protest ainst the alleged treapass, and this was energetily done. Magnwhile the news spread, and the shitants of the all cent village and district cked upon the acene. In carriages, gigs, dogrte, and on foot, gentry, shopkeepers, husbandn, women, and children, at once tasted the ulity of what they saw by strolling over and natting on the common, and cutting and taking ornels o gorse, to prove as they said. " the place us their own again." The cost of the thice iles of iron railing removed is said to have been ore than a thousand pounds; and that of its rebyal most have been considerable. Whatever ay be the regulato this daring return to what is lled "old constitutional form," and however it

ly be riewed by the legal authorities before bom is will be speedily brought, it must be rerded as one of the most decided and vigorous otests against alleged asarpation which have curred in our own prossio, peucuful, and drilerring times. - Daily News. The same | Spectator. man who confides to you with pride his successes with ladies who believe that money is the sinews of love as well as war will blueb and seem halfashamed of himself as he tells you of his approaching marriage. Possibly club life has a good deal to answer for in this respect. Young men of an unsentimental turn find that they can be made comfortable for a small anonal payment; that, practically, they can get what they would most value in domestic life without undergoing any provious sacrifice or running any risk. The result is a tone of thought which considers itself refined, at the very mement that it is most coarse and yulgar. The dread of marriage, so common amongst clever, smart youths, is not to be considered, perhaps, as entirely their own fault. Jime was when people married in the brlief that by so doing-by sharing toils and troubles as well as enjoyments—their upward path in the world would be made pleasanter; they looked forward, say, to twenty years of work, and then to prosperity as its reward. An accurate and scientific description of the Irishman is as difficult to get at as was for a long time an accurate and scientific description of the Dodo. Even among Irish politicions it is not casy to point out a man who may be taken as a fair specimen of the Celtic element in the British Empire-not taken (as our English journals serious and comic. are too prone to take the Irish neasant) from the midet of squalor and ignorance, and held up to the scorn of this enlightened ago and country, but taken with all the advantages that birth, position, and education can bestow. If we find such a man adhering firmly to the political belie's which it is the custom of some of us to consider mere Will-o'-the Wisps that | lure a few headted and untaught peasants to sure destruction, and yet, in comparison with the educated English gentleman, showing himself inferior on the whole in no part of that graceful and dignetied intellectual completeness which we instinctively require in him, the fact ought to farnish us with grave matter for reflection, and might belo to clear up much that is dark in the causes of this unhappy Fenian movement and the means | where large ships can be at anchor. The O'Donoghne, as we have known him here in England, has shown himself to be a young man of considerable ability, and has distinguished himself from the great majority of his collea gnes, the Irish members, by a grace and delicacy, which is too often absent in them. Ho is vain, like many Irishman; he is extravagant, like most Irishmen; and he cannot avoid, as he ought most carefully to avoid, the unreason of extromes. If he can check these tendencies he may do a good work, for few have such opportunities as be; but if not be will sink to the level of the Frargus O'Connors of the Inst generation To Englishmen however, The O'Dano - For further particulars apply to ghue is only a favourable encomen of an Irish partyleader. A. CARD. DROFESSOR WHEELER, would respectfully attract the attention of the Hongkong Public to the importance of having the Hair Out. and Dressed in an Artistic manner and style Appropriate to the Individual is the cut of the Hair: there can be no fixed or prevailing fachion without destroying almost universally the barmony of the fout ensemble. Indeed as diverse at $1. is the contour of the human head and facial outline, just so peculiar should be the trim and arranges ment of the Hair. This fact is acted upon by only those Hair-Cuttors who possess an inherent judgment in matters of tasto, cultivated and improved by incessant study and application. Of this rare class. Professor WHEELER, humbly claims to he one, and the Only One in this Colony, and he madestly hat confidently invites all who may be distrustful of his ability to give him at least a INTIL further notice the cliewing Annua trial before pronouncing an adverse opinion.
